DUDLEY S. LOCKRIDGE'S DEATH.—D. S. Lockridge died in Mt. Sterling Friday night of general debility. He was in the lively business. Mr. Lockridge was for many years a prominent farmer of the Sharpshurg precinct, Bath county, and was a highly esteemed citizen.

CHILDREN'S DAY.—The little folks are in a state of pleasurable anticipation in regard to the observance of Children's Day at the Christian Church, Sunday, June 7th. They were assembled at the Church Monday night and given their parts, which they will be duly drilled and prepared for the occasion.

THE SNOW.—The performance of the play the Mystic Order of the Golden Fleece at the Court-house last Thursday night drew a good-sized crowd of spectators. It was a success financially, and so far haven't heard a kick from any spectator that it wasn't fully up to the standard of amateur plays.

A GOOD CITIZEN DEAD.—Jerry Wills, a prominent farmer of McCullough's Branch (a tributary of Salt Lick Creek), died on Tuesday night, April 21st, of stomach disease. The burial took place the following day at the James McClaugh's grave yard. He had been confined to bed with his ailment for two months previous. He was as good a citizen as the county afforded. His wife and five children—four sons and one daughter—survive him. The children are all grown.

A REMARKABLE SEASON.—The oldest inhabitant is dowed by the most peculiarities of this season. Vegetation is developed from three to four weeks ahead of its usual growth at this time of the year. The bluegrass and the leaves on the trees are grown as much as they usually are at the end of May. The locust trees bloomed out Monday. The "redhorse" sucker fish came on the Licking river riffles on last Friday. Who ever heard of "redhorse" spawning on the 23th of April? "Gor Wood" arrived on Tuesday morning, more than the largest fully-developed grower. Mosquitoes biting for ten days or so, and severely as they some- times do in summer and autumn.

DIED IN INDIANA.—Mrs. Teresa McClure, wife of M. B. McClure, died on the 22d inst. at her home in Crawfordsville, Indiana. She was the oldest daughter of the late Allen Gudgell, of this county; born March 15, 1821, and lived all her life in Bath county until about 10 years ago she and her husband removed to Crawfordsville, Ind. Joe McClure and Wint McClure, of this county, are two of deceased's sons; one son, Wallace McClure, and one daughter, Mrs. J. Steele, reside in Crawfordsville.

FORMERLY PASTOR HERE.—Rev. James A. Caywood was tried on a charge of being insane, in Mason Co., but, despite the evidence, he was declared to be of sound mind. He was then committed to the county poor-house. During the night he hanged himself. Mr. Caywood was formerly a member of the Southern Methodist Conference of this district and was assigned to and preached at the Owingsville church one year, about 1879. He had been shortly before wedded to a Miss Mary C. Leachman, of Sardinia. The following year he was assigned to the Hillsboro church. There some scandal arose about his wife and he procured a divorce. He lost his mind and was sent to an asylum. Recovering, he married again and had four children. He lost his property and also his mind some time previous his suicide.

CROP PROSPECTS.—A rain on Friday made the folks in some parts of the county more pleased with the season. A heavy rain on Tuesday did much good in town and vicinity. There was much complaint in some localities of tobacco-plants being destroyed by insects during the dry weather. This may cause a decreased acreage of tobacco-planting yet.

Corn came up well, even during the drouth.

The wheat is not very promising. The chances are that the hay crop will be short, on account of the dry weather.

There are crowds of potato-bugs sitting on the clouds awaiting the appearance of the potato-plants above ground.

The incise cut-worm finds delight now in severing the stately tomato-plant, that the ambitious early gardener has been tenderly nurturing in the house for months past.

TOWN IMPROVEMENTS.—The work on C. C. Hazelrigg's new residence is progressing favorably. It will be a handsome dwelling house, two stories high, with seven rooms, two hallways, a porch and two verandas, and a cellar. It has one front on Budduth street and one on High street.

That part of the town is fast becoming a beautiful residence neighborhood. With the completion of Hazelrigg's house there will be three new residences in a row, all built last year.

J. J. Nesbitt has just completed a tenement house in Hartwood street. It will be occupied by Perry Reid, of color.

R. L. Tipton, Jr., has had a new veranda, new roof and cornice put to his residence, on High street, and with its new coat of paint, they add handsomely to its appearance.

J. J. Nesbitt has commenced work on his new cottage residence on the Mrs. Brooks lot on Main street. It will be a neat, pretty structure.

TOBACCO MARKET AND BATH TOBACCO SALES IN LOUISVILLE.—[Condensed from the Courier-Journal.]—April 21st.—Market opened about the same as last week. 381 of the 880 offerings were reviews. Much was in bad condition and was heavily discounted by the buyers. Rejections large and some warehouses are sending considerable tobacco back to the shippers to be rehandled.

April 22d.—Offerings large, 425 being reviews. Quality and condition poor. Bidding active, prices irregular and unsatisfactory except on bright trashes and good to fine leaf in good order. These sold very well as the market goes now. The weather being dry and cold, tobacco showed up much better than yesterday.

John E. Cole/Bascom, of Sharpshurg precinct, was on the breakers. BATH SALES.—4 hds. new lugs at $6.50, 5.60, 4.55; 15, old lugs, $6.50, 6.40, 6 to 5.95; 2, new trash, $3.85, 1.95; 1, old trash, $1.85.

April 23d.—Market irregular and unsatisfactory. Rejections large, except where condition was so bad that the tobacco had to be lot go.

BATH SALES.—1 hhd. old lugs at $4; 3, old trash, $3.80 to 1.70.

April 24th.—Sales light, no change in market. Dull and unsatisfactory on all not in good keeping order, and is not expected to improve until these have been disposed of, which will be in about two weeks.

Mrs. M. B. McClure's DEATH.—Mrs. M. B. McClure died at her home, in Crawfordsville, Indiana, on the 22d of April, 1896. She was born the 15th day of March, 1821, making her 75 years, one month and 7 days old. She married M. B. McClure in 1846. There were six children born to them. She leaves four of them to mourn after her. She joined the Christian church in 1858. She was the fifth child of Allen and Becca Gudgell. She moved to Crawfordsville with her husband, M. B. McClure, in 1883. She was a true wife, a faithful and loving mother, and a devoted member of the Christian church at Sherburne until she moved to Indiana. There she lived in her church membership and lived and helped to carry on the cause of Christ until her death. She was kind and benevolent to all her neighbors, and willing to help with the sick, and help the needy. She has a host of friends in Bath and also many in Crawfordsville. She leaves four children, one brother and three sisters to mourn her death. Her only brother who survives is Joseph Gudgell, and her sisters are Mrs. Sallie Harper, wife of Daniel Harper; Mrs. Eliza Terry, who lives in Cedar Co., Mo.; and Miss Jennie Gudgell, the youngest sister, who lives with her sister, Mrs. Harper.

"A precious one from us has gone; A voice we loved is still; A place is vacant in our home Which never can be filled."

"God in his wisdom has recalled The boon his love has given; And though the body moulders here The soul is safe in Heaven."

J. G.

Mrs. JAMES STONE'S DEATH.—As briefly announced in last week's issue, Mrs. Ann Stone, wife of James Stone, sank into the last sleep of all at 5:15 o'clock p. m. on Tuesday, April 21st, 1896. She had been in delicate health for a good many years, a part of the time being an invalid. Some months ago a cancerous growth appeared on her breast, which was operated upon and treated at the Good Samaritan Hospital, Cincinnati. However, she grew rapidly worse after her last trip to the hospital, the disease affecting the spinal cord and hastening dissolution. She passed away surrounded by relatives and kind friends, who had been intermittent in their loving attentions during her illness.

The funeral services were held on the afternoon of the next day at the family residence by Elder G. W. Porter, pastor of the Christian Church, of which the deceased was a member. Immediately afterward the funeral cortege formed and proceeded to the Owingsville Cemetery, where, after the simple burial services conducted by Elder Porter, the casket was consigned to the earth. The attendance of mourners was very large, the deceased being widely related and having many friends.

Mrs. James Stone's maiden name was Miss Ann Burbridge. She was a daughter of "Uncle Jack" Burbridge, a very prominent and esteemed citizen in his day. She was born near Reynoldsville, this county, about fifty-three years ago. Her father's family was prominent in the best society in the county. She was married to her husband, James Stone, who survives her, during her young womanhood and lived in happy union with him all the balance of her life. Their only child, a girl baby, died at the age of two years. Of her father's family they survive her Mrs. Miranda Young, mother of Mrs. A. W. Bascom, who resides with her daughter, west of town; James Walter Burbridge, of the same neighborhood, and Roland M. Burbridge, of Mt. Sterling. The deceased had a large circle of warm friends, who mourn her death.

OUR NEXT CIRCUIT JUDGE.—[COMMUNICATED.]—It is true that the 21st Judicial District does not elect a Circuit Judge until one year hence, and to some this article may seem somewhat premature; nevertheless, the suggestions which the writer has to offer can certainly do no one an injustice, and if it serves to call the attention to the claims of a worthy and splendidly-qualified man for our next Circuit Judge the purpose of the writer will have been accomplished. I desire through this medium to call the attention of the voters of the 21st Judicial District to Judge C. W. Goodpastor, of Owingsville, as a man in every respect magnificently equipped for the position of Circuit Judge.

Judge Goodpastor is in the prime of life, liberally educated, a man of wide reading, and a lawyer of marked ability. He has naturally an analytical mind, and added to this years of experience as an advocate. He enjoys a large and lucrative practice, which he has gained by his ability and spotless integrity. Judge Goodpastor has never been an office-seeker; indeed, never held but one office,—that of County Judge,—and men regardless of political affiliations will agree with the writer that Bath county never had a better Judge than he, or one who was more jealous of the welfare of the county. Judge Goodpastor has been a life-long Democrat, and has ever been in the forefront when others aspired to places of honor and trust. I would not speak disparagingly of others, but I assert with confidence that there is not a man within the bounds of the 21st District better suited to wear the Judicial ermine than is Judge C. W. Goodpastor. He is a man of the highest sense of that term, besides possessing the professional qualifications necessary to the important office of Circuit Judge. I desire to call the attention of our sister county Montgomery to the fact that Bath county has, in the opinion of the writer, some claims on naming the next nominee for Circuit Judge, that ought to be respected. It has been years since Bath county named a candidate for this office, and it does appear to me that Bath county can offer the District a man the peer of any in the District; and, add to that the fact that he will be a sure winner and would enter the race unnumbered by any hurtful combinations whatever, he ought certainly to be the next nominee. The Democracy can afford to make no mistake in the selection of candidates for the next election; they want men who can win against all comers, and Judge Goodpastor is one of those men. Let it be remembered that this is written without the knowledge or consent of Judge Goodpastor. The writer does not know that he contemplates making the race, but this is written to call attention now to his eminent fitness for the position.

YOTER.

FROM MISSOURI.—Dell, Mo., April 19, 1896.—Editor of The Outlook: As I have read The Outlook every week since I left Ky., and, indeed, would not know how to do without it, I will say that in comparing The Outlook with the county papers of either Iowa or Missouri it bears close inspection with any of them.

As you are aware I left Ky. two years ago last February. For the past two years I have lived in Decatur county, Iowa. Iowa is a fine place for a man of means to live. Land—that is, good land—is high. Of course, poor land is cheap enough. The main crops are corn, hay, and potatoes. Potatoes are raised extensively in the western counties, but not a great deal of wheat. Small fruit—such as grapes, blackberries, raspberries and strawberries, are there in abundance. Apples are the principal large fruit. Monied men are fast buying up the land in Decatur county.

Three months ago I moved to Missouri. I like it splendidly. The climate is lovely; such good water, and, consequently, not much sickness. The soil is a great deal like Ky. It would be a fine tobacco county if the farmers would devote the time to that product; but they do not; it is very rocky, and has the finest timber I ever saw. We have a fine prospect for everything, fruit in particular. Wherever there is a fruit-seed dropped there is sure to be a fruit-tree.

I live but a short distance from two beautiful streams, the Osage and Femme de Terre rivers. There is plenty of fish in both of them. Warfare on country-seat is a flourishing little town of a little over a thousand, located on the Osage river.

I have been engaged in farming since I left Ky. My oats are fine. Corn-planting will soon be a thing of the past. Our spring is unusually late this year. The staples of this county are corn, wheat, potatoes, and hay. Land sells from $1.50 to $3.00 per acre; in fact, the cheapest land I ever saw. They are going to put a railroad through this place so as to make connection with Springfield, that beautiful city in the extreme southern part of the State, located at the foot of the Ozark mountains; therefore, land is advancing pretty fast.

If you remember, for the last two summers that I was in Ky. I was sick, but my health is so much better I have worked nearly every day since I left home; and this spring I am indeed quite robust—for me.

I would like to make my relatives and friends on Ky. soil a visit, and take my little Iowa wife, to show them that Iowa has pretty women as well as Ky.; and I think I shall as soon as I can arrange it. I suspect that so many changes have taken place that I shall scarcely recognize Owingsville. I guess I had better close, for fear my letter will find the waste basket; but if it doesn't I shall endeavor to write again in the near future.

Yours truly,

G. W. TACKETT.
